Testimony about Residency in Barcelona (Summer 2016)

Nick Maione (poet)

"This Catena really feels like a "catena"... I feel so blessed and special. I feel like it's a true vocation to be part of Catena, to be part of a community of artists. Everyone talks about the crisis in the family (...) but no one talks about the crisis in art and beauty, and it's a true vocation, and Catena is like a baby... a true offspring, an incubator of many people who came before... And now here we are, the Catena. If you think in terms of scale it is huge, and important. And I feel so blessed, and willing to be part of it with everyone!"

"My way of life is my art, and through that I try to maintain the view of a child. I think that it's something that I choose in my creations. I want to have my eyes open, and I think that this is a very serious way for an artist to keep his soul open and free.."
Serhiy Savchenko (from interview of CatenArt)
